Sir,

TELEPHONES:- Telephone connection to Mangalore Sub Divisional Magistrate's residence and the Taluk Office, Mangalore- sanction - requested.

The residence of the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Mangalore and The Stationary Sub Magistrate's Court, Mangalore which is situated in a portion of the Taluk Office, Mangalore are not connected with telephones. During abnormal situations, considerable inconvenience is felt both by the Police and the Magistracy in getting into touch with each other when Law and order situation so demands. One such example was the stoning incident when S N. Holla was arrested in Jeppu, in Mangalore Town. The Police have to face considerable loss of valuable time in sending intimation to the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Mangalore at the time of rounding up and arresting the communists.

2. The installation of a telephone at the main building of the Taluk office, Mangalore will be useful not only to the Dt. Supdt. of Police and the Stry. Sub Magistrate, Mangalore but also to me. The only difficulty will be in setting up telephone connection to the residence of the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Mangalore which is a private one. The Sub Divisional Magistrate, Mangalore is not provided with residential quarters by the Government. But this difficulty will not be serious if the Government do not transfer Revenue Divisional Officers in under a year. The telephone department insist on the connection remaining for three months at a place before being moved.

3. As the setting up of telephone connections to the Taluk Office (in which the Stry Sub Magistrate's Office is housed) and the residence of the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Mangalore is an urgent necessity I request early sanction.

The Collector has made a clear case for the installation of a telephone in the Taluk Office, Mangalore, and it may be sanctioned.

If the position regarding the availability of the equipment were easy, I would entirely recommend the installation of a residential telephone to every Sub Divisional Magistrate at stations where electricity is available, as ~~economically as possible~~, but this is far from being the case now in regard to telephone installations. The Sub Divisional Magistrate, like the District Magistrate, is a touring officer, and the Police will have to communicate with the local Sub Magistrate if anything serious happens when both the two higher Magistrates are away on tour. In this case, the telephone at the residence of the Station Sub Magistrate, Mangalore, will only be of very little use the Law and Order point of view! The Sub Magistrates, Mangalore, cannot be sure of a permanent tenancy in the private house in which the present incumbent of the post is residing. I consider, therefore, that provision of a residential telephone for the Sub Magistrate, Mangalore, be deferred till the supply position re. telephone equipment becomes satisfactory. Home also, see.

AB D
